Violent videos and music didn't make caller a killer

I'm calling with my reaction to Colorado.

The media is still trying to blame violent video games, violent movies, and violent music for these boys' actions.

I play violent video games, watch violent movies, and listen to violent music, yet I am not going into my school and killing 15 people.

The issue is that these boys have problems that are no reflection on their society or what they listen to or watch. These boys were simply screwed up.

People do things against the law that can't be stopped. Everybody knows killing people in school is wrong. New laws won't stop it. In case nobody knew, it is already illegal to go into your school and shoot everybody.

Schools don't prescribe learning disability medicine

Ivan Helfman wrote on April 25 that about 25 percent of the [Plymouth-Canton] district's students have been diagnosed with learning disabilities and that many are on dubious prescriptions for drugs with the cooperation of the district. I wonder what cooperation that is. It is totally a parent or guardian's decision to put a child on medication. That decision is made along with a physician or psychiatrist.

This school district has nothing to do with medicating anybody. They may assist with the diagnosis of somebody with a learning disability.

They do administer medications in school, but they also administer any medications, for instance, if somebody has a physical ailment.

So I don't think that this district wants students medicated. It's a parents choice whether to put children on medication.

$1.6 billion aeropark looms, could also add 25,000 jobs

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The skies were cloudy and rain-filled, but Wayne County officials foresaw a rainbow that would lead to $1.6 billion in new investment and a potential of 25,000 new jobs at a planned aeropark adjoining Detroit Metro Airport's new international terminal.

About 75 county, state and local officials, utility and financial representatives and media personnel gathered in the rain Thursday afternoon to hear County Executive Edward McNamara explain the risks and hopes involved in the planning of the 1,800 acre Pinnacle -- aeropark of Wayne County.

McNamara and others bragged that Wayne County is second only to Los Angeles in economic development -- and with the expected development of the aeropark could jump to number one in coming years.

While there definitely are risks -- based on the heavy financing already put out by the county, McNamara said he feels the aeropark will become "the place" to locate as Wayne County enters the 21st century.

The new park area -- that is expected to become a Foreign Trade Zone -- will also be a major tax benefit to the city of Romulus and Huron Township.

It was explained that much of the land has been purchased by Wayne County in recent years as a result of the long airport noise controversy.

County officials then returned to the general area and purchased much of the property in between the home sites that were obtained earlier.

Romulus Mayor William Oakley said the city supports the growth program...as long as the land and projects are returned to the local tax rolls.

Wayne County now is searching for a master developer and plans to begin the development later this year.

Among the key project elements are: an 18-hole championship golf course, three business-class hotels, a conference center and open green spaces suitable for biking and pedestrian trails.

Romulus schools called 'model site' for literacy

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus schools have earned a $215,341 Michigan Department of Education grant, while being declared a "model site for a summer school literacy program."

The University of Michigan's Research Department will monitor the student progress and there will be additional opportunities through the grant funds for students to participate in Romulus Boys and Girls Club activities.

The grant was developed and submitted by Lynne Mossioian, Hale Creek Elementary School principal; and two of her staff Gretchen Notaro and Gail Perkins.

See related story on page C-5
Students involved in the reading program will be in grades kindergarten through the third grades throughout the district.

Hale Creek will serve as the home base for students there as well as from Merriman and Barth schools. The other two centers will be Wick and Cory Elementary Schools.

The stated reading program will last for five weeks this summer, with participating students in attendance for three hours a day.

Mossioian revealed the student-teacher ratio would be 10-1 thus permitting teachers to give individualized training to various students.

The reading program will improve students' readiness for their next grade level, Mossioian said.

An extra family component of the grant for those parents willing to reinforce instruction, transportation and lunch sessions, will be the creation of 100 scholarships to the Romulus Boys and Girls Club.

The students involved will be given transportation to the reading sessions each morning followed by a lunch and then rides to the Boys/Girls Club at Merriman School.

The afternoon game and physical activity sessions will last until 6 p.m. each day.

Student issues threat---to blow up Middle School

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

An angry eighth grader, who threatened to blow up the Middle School and cut off everybody's head, has been swiftly suspended, Superintendent Dr. William Bedell revealed Tuesday.

The verbal clash between the unidentified 14-year-old and Assistant School Principal Christine Powers took place on Monday -- only days after the tragic killings of 13 students in Colorado.

The emotions spread by the massive slayings of Colorado students has created a tripwire for school security officials across the U.S. since then.

During the talk between Powers and the boy, he reportedly 'went berserk'.

See column on Page A-8.

Most school leaders are choosing to err on the side of safety and as in the Romulus case are quickly suspending any students threatening their peers or authorities.

Reportedly the student was being interviewed by Powers following a failure to show up at a Saturday detention, which creates an automatic two day suspension period, Human Resources Director Samuel LaMonica revealed.

During the talk between Powers and the boy, he reportedly "went berserk," Bedell is quoted as saying.

Bedell said Powers suspended the youth and called police after the threats were uttered.

He has now been suspended for three days.

The superintendent reportedly informed the school board trustees of the incident Monday night at their regular meeting as an item of information.

There reportedly was little dialogue by the trustees following the announcement.

Inkster boy still in coma

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A 20-year-old Romulus motorist faced a hearing on 11 traffic violations (five of them alcohol related) in 34th District Court yesterday following an April 17 accident in which his van rammed the rear of a car bearing six passengers.

The most seriously injured, Kevin Gibson, 6, of Inkster, reportedly is in a coma and on a ventilator at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

A report on the court hearing will appear in next week's editions of the Michigan Community Newspapers.

According to Romulus Traffic Officer Cliff West the arrested driver, Robert Deangelo Howell, was traveling southbound at a high rate of speed in an errant manner on Wayne road and smashed into a Ford Escort that contained four children and two adults.

Howell also was charged with fleeing from police and possession of marijuana.

The accident occurred about 5:45 p.m. April 17 at the intersection of Wayne and Goddard roads. The second vehicle reportedly was stopped for a red light, when it was struck, West reported.

The passengers in the Escort sustained various injuries ranging from bumps to bruises to broken bones, West reported.

Police reported that Howell started to speed up even more, when he spotted a police car nearby, despite the fact his passengers urged him to slow down.

He earlier had been arraigned April 20 before 34th District court Judge William Szlinis and ordered held in $25,000 bond (10%).

Seventy-five local students chosen to attend US Space Camp in Florida

Mike Flanagan, County Superintendent for Wayne RESA, the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency is pleased to announce that 75 five elementary and middle school students from metropolitan Detroit have been selected to receive full scholarships to US Space Camp in Titusville, Florida. The students will be attending camp May 2 - 8.

This is the fifth year that Wayne RESA has coordinated this tri-county effort. The annual Lotcite-Alan Shepard Golf Invitational sponsored by Lotcite Corporation, a worldwide automotive specialty supplier that produces adhesives and sealants, raises the funds. Lotcite Corporation operates a technical support center in Troy.

Selection of the 4th through 7th grade students, who represent schools in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties and the Greater Detroit Big Brothers/Big Sisters Organization, was based on their interest and potential in mathematics and science, ability to work well independently and as a part of a team and be comfortable taking an extended trip away from home. At Space Camp, the stu-

During the orientation, the students and their parents had the opportunity to meet several of last year's Space Camp graduates to hear first hand about this experience of a lifetime.

dents from the Detroit area will be placed on teams with other children from across the country. They will not only hear about what an astronaut does, but will have the opportunity to experience it. They will be strapped into the Five Degrees of Freedom Simulator to perform a space walk; the will experience what it is like to move about on the moon's surface in the One-Sixth Gravity Chair; they will apply theories of physics as they build and launch their own rockets and will get a real "taste" of space adventure by sampling freeze-dried space food. The week will culminate in a simulated mission in the shuttle simulator and mission control. Each student will have the opportunity to play one of several roles (Commander, Mission Specialist, Payload Specialist, Navigator, Pilot, Mission Controller, etc.) in the mission.

The students selected for this year's adventure attended an orientation session at Wayne RESA's Annex, 5454 Venoy Road in Wayne. During the orientation, the students and their parents had the opportunity to meet several of last year's Space Camp Graduates to hear first hand about this experience of a lifetime.

The following local students attended:

Steven Chisholm of Inkster who attends 5th grade at Baylor-Woodson of Inkster Public Schools. Emily Chase of Westland who attends 4th grade at Cooper Elementary of Livonia Public Schools. Ronald Kreutzer of Romulus who attends 5th grade at Barth Elementary of Romulus Comm. Schools. Mario Hines of Ecorse who attends 7th grade at Wayne RESA of Wayne RESA. Ilir Xholi of Wayne who attends 5th grade at Roosevelt Elementary of Wayne-Westland Public Schools.

Tatoos may be regulated

State Rep. Bruce Patterson announced today he is co-sponsoring a bipartisan bill regulating body piercing and tattoo establishments to ensure safety.

House Bill 4451, introduced Tuesday, is similar to county regulations Patterson adopted as a Wayne County commissioner and ones being approved by lawmakers across the country.

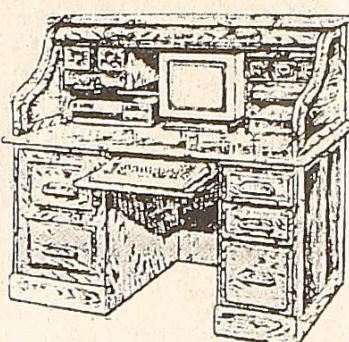

"These regulations are necessary to ensure adequate health measures are taken to prevent infection and the spread of disease in body art salons," said Patterson, R-Canton Township. "People who opt for such procedures need to be assured they are performed in safe, sanitary facilities."

The legislation applies to places that perform body piercing, branding or tattooing and would be regulated by Consumer and Industry Services. Violators face a misdemeanor charge and $100 fine.

"Body piercing and tattoos are more than an art form, they're a matter of public health," Patterson said. "It's our job as lawmakers to protect consumers as well as employees of such establishments and guard against potential health hazards."

Upscale shopping district proposed for Ford, Wayne roads

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Westland's urban potential has long been recognized, but nobody has done anything about it – until now.

A plan and financing has finally been proposed by the Downtown Development Authority to create "Nankin Town Center," an attractive shopping district beginning with the renovation or replacement of some rundown buildings on the corner of Ford and Wayne.

"I can see coffee shops, small stores, and lofts all the way down Wayne road, from Ford south to Marquette," said Dr. Kim Shunkwiler, Downtown Development Authority (DDA) chairman.

"Starbuck's and Einstein's – wonderful!" said Councilwoman Sharon Scott, after learning that the Dearborn, where the two coffee shops are located, would share plans with Westland's DDA.

Shunkwiler and DDA director Steve Guile presented the plan, which also outlines an incentive program that pays business owners to put up attractive signs, to city council members at a study Monday night session.

The Nankin Town Center portion seeks to recruit developers to makeover the mostly vacant Big Lot shopping center, on the southwest corner of Ford and Wayne, and the old Westland Motel, on Ford.

The DDA's goal is to transform them into retail shops and restaurants on streets with a "pedestrian" and "downtown feel." A hotel would also be considered.

In order to interest developers, Guile said that the city must offer incentives, such as temporary reductions of captured taxes. These are taxes that otherwise would go to the DDA, not the city. It is generated by increased property values in the DDA district, which runs along Ford and Wayne.

Another incentive would be to reduce developer's costs on hooking up to the city's water and sewer system.

"You have to give something to get something," explained Guile. "If it's a big enough project to change the city's image, than an incentive is worth it."

In return for the incentives, Guile said businesses would probably have to conform to higher architectural design standards than otherwise required.

"This sounds like an abatement to me," said Councilwoman Justine Barns, who recalled how tax abatements, which are no longer available, the city once used to attract businesses.

Council members said they supported the plan.

Councilman Trav Griffin said and even suggested the city buying property off Wayne to provide parking. "For 20 years we talked about developing an off-street parking cluster near the residents homes. Maybe we should buy (some homes) on Wayne and put parking in the rear of shops."

To upgrade existing signs and buildings, Guile proposed using the DDA's $53,000 surplus (money leftover from their recent tree planting program on Ford and Wayne roads) to give grants to business owners willing to replace outdated signs or spruce up storefronts.

Upgrades could also be financed by loans from Standard Federal and Comerica banks.

Guile asked the city to contribute $50,000 as an interest-free loan to the DDA to kick off program. The loan would be paid back with tax money captured by the DDA.

After Finance Director Tim McCurley recommended approving the program, council members said they favored it if it would jive with the city's new sign ordinance and revisions being considered by the a committee made up of Chamber of Commerce members and City Council President Sandra Cicirelli.

The city's sign ordinance is being reconsidered to allow some off-road businesses at strips to display more visible signs.

Finally, Guile proposed a professional public relations campaign to improve Westland's image, which he had trouble describing.

"Without an image upgrade, it will be hard to market properties," he said.

He said that it would take a couple of years before Westland was known as upscale community.

"Next to high-growth Canton, Westland looks favorable," said Guile. "All we need is a change of attitude."

Dinner slated to honor handicapped

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Approximately 140 area handicapped persons, many currently residing in 15 senior citizen residences, will be honored Sunday at a dinner sponsored by the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

The Rev. A. Wesley Crocker, new pastor of the handicapped ministry at the church, will coordinate the dinner program for the first time.

It will however be the 25th anniversary dinner for the group that enlists about 60 volunteers to transport various persons from nursing homes and other residences to the church, set up the meal arrangements and prepare the dinners themselves.

Crocker, 65, who recently retired as pastor of the Rockwood First Congregational Church, became a member of the Belleville church last June.

Both he and his wife, Doris, have served as pastors of various churches in Michigan in recent years.

Crocker also previously served as a pastor in his native England for 19 years prior to arriving in the Kalamazoo area in 1961.

The Methodist Church's musical group, Joyful Noise, will begin entertaining at 1:30 p.m. Sunday followed by the children's choir known as the Quarter Notes.

The Fiddlers' Group from Saline will perform at 2:15 p.m. with the dinner beginning a half hour later.

Commander leaving to help refugees

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The tragic daily view of Kosovo refugees streaming into Albania has traumatized or flattened most Americans' emotions in recent months. Thus area Salvation Army commanders are now being sent into that ravaged area to aid the distraught and financially poor Albanians families, who are taking on the superhuman task of sharing their meager plates with their empty-handed refugee house guests. One such commander, Capt. Jeff Smith of nearby Dearborn Heights, is awaiting a move out date in the next few weeks for the troubled Albanian refugee camps.

Ironically he will be replacing Lt. Mike McKee of Big Rapids, who arrived in Albania less than a month ago. McKee actually grew up in the Metro Detroit area and his parents, Jim and Mildred McKee and his brother, Rob, still attend the Salvation Army Corps in Dearborn Heights.

Actually Smith and McKee were suppose to be a part of a 10-member party slated for Albania earlier this month, but the number was trimmed to five because of accommodations overseas. Thus Smith already has received his inoculations for polio, Hepatitis A, typhus and tetanus. Each team now of five reportedly will serve about a month in Albania...but because the refugee problems are worsening there, even possibly the month long tours could possibly even be extended. Smith (who is the brother-in-law of retired Salvation Army Lt. Col. Clarence Harvey) said the hardest part of the planned sojourn so far is the twin-delays he has been given to date.

He is trying to keep all S.A. Corps programs and needs up to date, since his wife, Dorothy, will have to fill both leadership roles at the Army Corps office on Warren road in Dearborn Heights during her husband's absence. That corps operations is the one that serves Inkster's community needs, among others.

Smith said upon arriving in Albania, he will be operating basically out of the nation's capital, Tirana, but since the country is only about the size of New Hampshire he also expects to be working in other cities and in the countryside (anywhere refugees are how being housed). "Our goal is to help feed the already strapped Albanians as they in turn try to save the growing numbers of refugees from starvation," Smith said. It is hoped that Smith's plane will also be able to transport additional field kitchens and water trucks to Albania. An invitation has been extended by the Michigan Community Newspapers to Smith for an interview upon his return, so that area residents may better understand American and NATO efforts in Kosovo.

Gospel concert on Sunday

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Former Romulus resident Kevin Jacobson - who now conducts a musical ministry out of Detroit - will be offering a free gospel concert at 6 p.m. Sunday at the Community United Methodist Church of Romulus. Jacobson began singing at the age of 10 and often was invited to sing in local churches during revivals and other special singing events. After finishing college, Jacobson traveled with a local

Southern Gospel quartet, the King's Messengers, for more than four years. Later he began his own solo ministry and he vows "with my whole heart I want to see the believer encouraged and the unbeliever pointed toward the hope and salvation that is Jesus Christ!" Jacobson also is a song writer and often weaves his own testimony - both his struggles and triumphs - into his musical concerts. The public is invited to the church located at 11160 Olive in Romulus, across from police headquarters. A four-night revival series will begin Sunday at the West Wayne Church of God featuring evangelist R.A. Enerson. Enerson will speak at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. services on Sunday and 7 p.m. services Monday through Wednesday. Special music will be offered nightly as will prayers for the sick as the Lord leads. Enerson encourages the public to join in the renewing of the holy spirit. The church is located at 5039 Woodward st. in Wayne.

Trendy culture to blame for Columbine massacre

Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold were driven by a society that has allowed its youth to worship violence and death. Thus it shouldn't surprise anyone when they opened the doors to Columbine High and blew away fourteen students and one teacher. It was bound to happen, if not in Littleton, Colorado, then maybe Austin, Texas, or even Canton, Michigan.

If we expect the violence to stop then we must stop the movies, cartoons, music, fashion and computer games that exist only because the blood and violence they offer is attractive to teenagers. The startling examples I am about to present hopefully will serve as a wake up call to a society that has allowed violence to become trendy.

Forget about some of our rap characters. Tupac and Biggy Smalls, both dead from street violence, don't hold a candle to one of today's most fashionable music stars, Marilyn Manson. Manson, who named his stage character after a mass murderer and proclaims to be the Antichrist, dresses in black with butt cheeks exposed and prances around the stage espousing lyrics bathed in blood and violence. Music industry executives generally agree the man has no talent but his stage persona has made him one of the most popular musicians of our time.

Even the rock musician formerly known as Prince has gotten into the violence act. A recent tour had him performing with a microphone shaped like a handgun so when he sang, it looked as if he was pointing the gun into his mouth, flirting with suicide.

Consider seven of the eleven major movie releases to video since April 6 have violent themes. Among them are "Apt Pupil," the story of a high school kid obsessed with Nazism; and "American History X," the rise and fall of a skinhead group.

Two years ago, three students were shot in Paducah, Kentucky. The 14-year-old triggerman cited the 1995 Leonardo DiCaprio breakthrough film, "Basketball Diaries," as his inspiration. In that film, a high school basketball star turns to heroin addiction and in a dream sequence dons a long black leather coat, brandishes a three-foot rifle, walks into a high school classroom and blows away students. One by one, the movie reel moves in slow motion as student after student is killed. His friends in the classroom are high-fiving and laughing.

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN by PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

The Dangerous Side Effects Of False Pride

Dear Mr. Ross: My 2 children inherited from me very beautiful brown eyes. Unfortunately, they also inherited my poor eye sight. They were due for new eye glasses at the beginning of the school year and my shame and embarrassment prevented me from writing you. Just last month one of them asked me, "Mom, any chance we'll be getting new glasses soon? The teacher had to move me to the front of the room because I can't see the blackboard." My kids deserve better.

Their father and I are divorced. I've begged and pleaded with him that if he would just send $600 for glasses, I would let him off the hook on child support for the rest of the year. His answer to this has been complete silence—the kids haven't received a dime, let alone a phone call from him. Please forgive my false pride by not turning me down. My kids really do deserve better.

Ms. K. T. ... Westlaker Times, Bay Village, OH

Dear Ms. T.: False pride is like alcohol: a little is good but too much is dangerous. For your children's sake I'm glad you decided to end your "bender" and ask for help. And unlike your ex-husband, I'm also glad you've asked someone who has the means and desire to provide it. It's my privilege to send $600 for new eye glasses. May it make learning for your children that much easier.

Dear Mr. Ross: Until I gave birth to my beautiful now 7 month old daughter, the decision of how to commit suicide was something I thought about all the time. I've been to many counselors who all say the same thing. My problem is that my looks are the most important part of my life. My boyfriend is under the impression that breast augmentation would solve my problems. I do believe he is right. In the 4 years we've lived together, he has seen my flat chest only twice. Mr. Ross, when I look in the mirror I want to be able to

The past six years have brought realism to computer games, and in turn the most popular games are the violent ones. The trend began with "Wolfenstein 3D," a game in which an American GI, rapped in a Nazi prison, must shoot multiple Hitlers in order to survive. Today the games are not as innocent. One of the most ugly is "Postal," in which the goal is to slaughter innocent bystanders, including cheerleaders who moan for mercy.

Eric Harris was a master at "Doom," a shooter game that allows players to customize their killing rooms and select from a cache of multiple weapons. The similarity between Harris and Klebold's real life actions and "Doom" are striking. Joe Rosenthal, an editor of an online service has said, "It's as if these people were playing a game of Doom, going from room to room, shooting people up, using multiple weapons."

Cartoons, memorialized by Disney and Hanna-Barbara, are remembered fondly by most of us. Buy the new generation of cartoons have an ugly, violent bent too their makeup. Consider today's most popular animated television show, "South Park." One of its characters, "Kenny," is bloodily killed each week. One of the new popular comic books to hit the streets is "The Trenchcoat Brigade."

Did anyone notice that the friend of the Colorado killers, as he was led away on television, was wearing a black trenchcoat with a "Kenny" T-shirt underneath?

Music, film, and even television (take a look at "Jerry Springer" or WCW wrestling) are driving the violence bandwagon. The more violence that is shown, the more violent a show or personality has to be to get noticed. The spiral will continue until we as parents, preachers and elected officials call a halt. Our young people are immersed in a culture bathed in blood and violence. Stand up leaders and demand enough is enough. I pray that Columbine is the last of the high school massacres.

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

THAT TOWER MAY LOOK LIKE A 'PUTT-PUTT' FEATURE... BUT THE PLACE STILL SOUNDS LIKE A REGULATION COURSE!

High school massacre prompts students to act more responsible

What can you say about the Columbine High massacre?

Certainly it was a premeditated act of terrorism, but how do you handle such pure evil?

One way is to reach out to the victims, their friends and families like some Plymouth-Canton high school students are trying to do.

The students have created a huge banner covered with signatures and messages of sympathy and support for Littleton, Colorado residents. By the time you read this, the banner will be in transit.

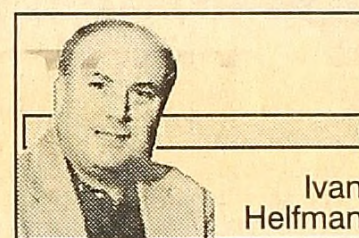

While offering sympathy to the victims, the banner aims to help Canton and Salem students "affirm their personal commitment to show respect and kindness to all people; to not prejudice anyone because of how they look or what they wear; and to seek peaceful solutions to grievances."

I like this. Students trying to be responsible for their own behavior and setting high standards of conduct.

While over in the neighboring Wayne-Westland school district, flags have been lowered to half mast at all buildings.

This graceful act of respect is not only commendable, it's a refreshing contrast to the hysterical overreactions and posturing pouring out of talking heads in the national media.

Instant experts are popping up with blame and accusations.

Ivan Helfman

While this tragedy was totally unexpected and unpredictable, the instant experts (all of whom failed to foresee it), are demanding to know why it wasn't prevented. With great hindsight, pundits and child psychologists claim that "the warning signs were all there" and that the tragedy could have been easily prevented. (Funny how the psychiatrist who "treated" John Hickley at length was unable to predict that his patient would shoot Ronald Reagan; and how all the government psychologists who profiled Lee Harvey Oswald missed the warning signs that he would assassinate of John F. Kennedy.)

Even Attorney General Janet Reno, who burned more innocent people at Waco, got on board the blame bandwagon on the Sunday morning new discussion shows.

Lawyers reportedly say they will sue everybody in sight for not preventing the rampage—the terrorists' parents, their school district, and Littleton police.

In addition to spreading criticism, the media is spreading fear, like the ABC News and Washington Post poll that says: "40 percent of the teenagers polled believe their school has the potential for an incident similar to the one that resulted in 15 deaths at Columbine High"; that "1 out of 3 have heard a student threaten to kill someone"; that "4 out of 10 say they know students troubled enough to be potential killers"; and that "1 out of 5 personally knows someone who has brought a gun to school."

Another poll conducted by Yankelovich Partners, says that half of America's 9- to 17-year-olds are worried that they will die young, and 36 percent fear they will be attacked in school.

While spreading fear may stampede the government into creating more social controls and passing more restrictive laws, it is not a force likely to bring people together.

With the media, experts, lawyers and government officials generally sensationalizing and exploiting the tragedy, the positive actions of Plymouth-Canton students and the respect shown by Wayne-Westland district appear noble.

Since these early signs of a decency are here, I think that we can ignore the scaremongers and rest assured that a massacre will not likely happen here.

Upset about expensive Summit renovations

To the Editor:

I am a little upset that the Summit Country Club presided over by Mr. Yack in Canton is planning renovations and added space, $750,000 to be requested from the State of Mich. $850,000 Mr. Yack will be putting up. From Canton taxes I presume. More people should attend the town hall meetings, I agree. But what good would it do? Mr. Yack and Co. will do what they want, anyway, no matter how many protests. For the benefit of the community, he will say.

They will not pay any attention to complaints about lack of street lights on many dark roads in Canton, nor about the blinkers at crossroads instead of real traffic lights. The police know which streets and what tremendous traffic there is with people going and coming home from work. They don't listen either. I see or hear about accidents almost every day. I detest waiting for your turn at the blinker crossroads. It is nerve racking and confusing. One day an elderly lady made a mistake in her turn, and the other driver honked his horn over and over and chased her down the street speeding too close to her car and still honking. None of us should have to put up with this. Given us proper stop lights right now. Since there is so much tax money available for the luxurious Summit.

Also, our rents are increasing every year. This false economy is going to take a deep fall one of these fine days. Too much building is going on. Too many stores and too many mansions. Also, the senior apartments are much smaller than surrounding townships built years ago.

Lessons from Littleton, Colorado: teach kids love, not hate

To the Editor:

The Littleton, Colorado school killings serve as a wake up call to us all. There will be a period of deep felt nationwide grief. Then a period of reflection. Finally there will be a call for action.

"We need to deepen our commitment to children, helping them to find the love, not losing themselves under the influence of hate. We need to show children how they are valuable and how to value others. I am the author of the just-released book Tips and Tools for Getting Thru to Kids. I suggest the following ways to help youth feel valued:

- Listen to your kids. Pay full attention when they speak. Validate their thoughts, even if you disagree with what they say. If you listen to them, they will listen to you.

- Encourage kids to express feelings. All feelings are permissible. They are an ongoing feedback of who we are. Feelings need to be acknowledged.

- Develop limit setting. Although all feelings should be allowed, destructive behavior is unacceptable. Define safe and unsafe behavior and explore its consequences.

Studies have shown that when we listen to children, they improve. When we teach kids to express their feelings while providing healthy limits, they improve in school, get along with others, and even experience better health. Children then feel valued and loved, creating a better, safer world for us all.

Sincerely,
Phillip Mountrose

An open letter to Westland Planning Commission

To the Editor:

I spoke by phone to Mr. Thompson regarding the proposed wireless communication facility at the municipal golf course. He asked me to take a drive by the tower on Newburgh, which I did. It was explained to me that this facility is to be put on city land. Does this also mean, it's a done deal? Is the city to receive rent? I certainly hope the answer to both questions is no. I am not in favor of this facility at the proposed location. What little country atmosphere we have left in the area would be gone, not to mention what an eyesore it is, not just to me but to the condos in the village. I certainly don't want to set outside and have to look at that. Would you? Would the mayor? Are you planning one in your neighborhoods? I think not. This type of tower belongs in an industrial park setting, not a family neighborhood....It's not and would not be an asset to homeowners in my area. I was told 2 other cities were refused, I can only hope that happens in this case. I for one will be fighting this proposal. Our city seems to have become a city that describes what they feel the people need, not what the people want or would prefer. I have lived here since 1973 and have really watched this city go from Westland to Wasteland.

For this I am truly sad.

'Grandma' Gates coming to Detroit

To the Editor:

What's hot in mobile electronics? Music muscle cars, that's what! Today, teens, twenty-somethings, and even seniors (see below) are souping up cars with monster audio systems to compete in "dB Drag Races" where, instead of revving engines and smoking tires contestants vie to have the loudest, best sounding, or best looking auto electronics installation. Every year, according to the Consumer Electronics Manufacturers Assn. (CEMA), consumers spend more than $10 billion on aftermarket automotive electronics, and thousands of cars compete in autosound "races."

Alma "Grandma" Gates, 63, the 1999 mobile electronics spokesperson for CEMA is a knowledgeable and impartial expert on car electronics. An industry-certified installer, Alma has personally designed an entire fleet of award-winning autos, including a 1988 6-ton Ford Bronco, recently "clocked" at 173.7dB and a BMW-M3 with the hottest and newest mobile audio and DVD video products and a trunk-mounted camera that lets drivers see what's behind them

Alma and her show cars cruised Detroit, April 20-22. She and her award-winning autos are available anytime, to demonstrate for your audience the latest trends in car electronics, how to create your dream car within almost any budget, and most important, how to find the best installer to get the most enjoyment while on the road.

Sincerely,
Mitchell Slepian

Wayne's one-room schoolhouse was a myth in 1920's

Dear Editor,

In the Wayne Eagle of April 1 1999, there was an article about the death of long time Wayne Resident Mrs. Brown, it is sad to see some of Wayne's older residents pass on.

I would like to bring to your attention a mistake, in the article about Mrs. Brown, the article stated, when Mrs. Brown came to Wayne in the 1920's, there was only a one-room school house. This fact is not correct.

In the year of 1909 the Roosevelt School was built at Shopia Street and Main Street on the south west corner. This building was a three-story brick building, with many classrooms. The classrooms were only on the second and third floors, but the building was only two stories from street level, as when you entered the building there was a stairway to go up stairs or to the basement level, which housed the boiler room, the boys and girls toilets and a few classrooms.

This building was about 200 feet long by 75 feet wide. The building started out as a school for all grade levels and end up as an elementary. The building surveyed the citizens of Wayne for 54 years.

The building was closed in 1963 when the new Roosevelt School at 36075 Currier Street opened.

Sincerely,

Three enter teen pageant

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Three Westland residents were recently selected to participate in Nationals' 1999 Miss Jr. Teen Detroit pageant competition.

The trio including Crystal Ann Head, Serena Marie Ray and Sarah Joy Ray had submitted applications and took part in interview sessions with Detroit Pageant Coordinator Thomas DiPaula on April 11.

Crystal enjoys volleyball, tennis and acting.

Serena takes part in singing, dancing and skating adventures.

Sarah also enjoys singing, serving in the color guard and enjoying the companionship of friends.

The girls now will be competing for their share in over $20,000 in scholarships, prizes and specialty gifts presented to the contestants.

They will be competing in casual and formal wear modeling routines and interviews. Personality will be the number one aspect each candidate will be judged on, DiPaula said.

The winner will represent the Detroit Metro area at a national finals event in Orlando, Fla.

Persons or businesses willing to help sponsor any of the girls are urged to call DiPaula at 1-800-552-9361.

Tiffany Frigo of Franklin Middle School of Wayne and Megan Beems of East Middle School of Plymouth have been named winners in the essay contest entitled "Talk to Me."

A total of 1,700 essays were received from sixth-eighth graders in over 70 schools throughout the state of Michigan.

The contest was sponsored by the Purple Rose Theatre Co. of Chelsea.

The goal of the program was to widen communication between the youths and their parents.

The winners will receive $200 savings bonds and attend a reception at the theatre in June hosted by Jeff Daniels, founder of the theatre company.

Kimberly Smith of Westland is among the Saginaw Valley State University seniors, who are having their art work displayed through April 29 at the school's art gallery.

Coast Guard Seaman Randall L. Pierce of Wayne recently graduated from the U.S. Coast Guard Recruit Training Center in Cape May, N.J.

Pierce, son of Diane Michael of Wayne, is a 1990 graduate of Wayne Memorial High School.

The training program lasted eight weeks and consisted of classroom academics, first aid, fire fighting skills and marksmanship.

Spencer Pyne of Westland and Steven King of Redford will represent William D. Ford Technical Center in Westland in the sixth annual Ford/AAA Student Auto Skills National Quality Care Challenge state finals.

Each student team will be asked to start a 1999 Ford Escort that has been purposely sabotaged by testers. The event will take place at 10 a.m. May 13 at the AAA Michigan's Dearborn Headquarters.

Each car in the contest has been identically "bugged" and the winner will be judged on the amount of time it takes to correct the car problems and drive the vehicle across the finish line.

The winners will be able to choose from assorted scholarship options and will represent Michigan in Washington D.C. on June 21.

What have school tragedies taught us in recent years???

You say the Colorado high school massacre has traumatized you!

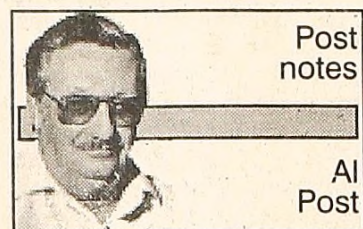

Well if it is any small comfort...you are not alone.

The events in Littleton on April 20 have touched the hearts and thank God even the souls of many across the U.S.

Few can understand why the color of one's skin, athletic prowess or the love of God should mark any of today's youth for instant execution and followed-up reams of laughter.

The visual reports from that victimized city ate at the emotions of both the young and hardened veteran news writers in the Michigan Community Newspapers office most of last week.

But this writer sadly feels that the Littleton episode is not the last high school disaster in this century.

Post notes

We seem to have learned nothing from earlier school shootings...but continue in our TV style fantasy of wanting a total societal fix in the next half hour.

Then we can return to the colorized screens in our homes, relax and watch those family value productions such as World Wide Wrestling, new versions of roller derby or the latest news reports from Kosovo.

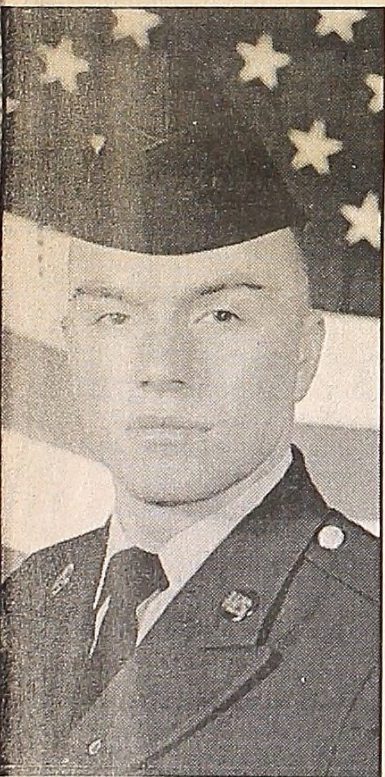

Before going to bed, we will chort the old refrain..."guns don't kill people, crazy people kill people!"

Citizens and educators finally realize that what happened in Littleton can happen anywhere...including Romulus, Wayne, Westland, Belleville, Canton and even Inkster.

Sadly as was shown in Littleton...metal detectors, heavy security and even large amounts of counseling did not prevail.

Rather than metal detectors... society needs mental detectors. But then must act quickly and positively with the mental strays ... not a year later after disaster hits.

See SCHOOL, page A-9

Kenneth Honeycutt

Army Pvt. Kenneth M. Honeycutt of Westland has arrived at Fort Knox, Ky. for eight weeks of basic military training.

Honeycutt is the son of Michele R. and step-son of William B. Priestley of Westland. He also is a 1998 graduate of John Glenn High School in Westland.

Marvin wins top volunteer award

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus-based GM Powertrain employee Chester Marvin has been awarded the first Bernie Firestone Labor Award for outstanding community volunteer service.

Marvin, a member of UAW Local 163 and 30 year veteran GM employee, accepted the honor at the Celebrate Volunteers Luncheon at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

The luncheon was sponsored by the Detroit area United Way and the Southeast Michigan Corporate Volunteer Council.

Marvin was honored for his work with the Friends of the Rouge. He works with students from more than 100 local schools and helps collect data on oxygen, pH and temperature levels of the Rouge as well as information about plant and animal life along the river.

Marvin is a graduate of Wayne State University. He and his wife, Charlene, reside in Redford. They have two grown children.

Quest is awesome on trips

By SYBIL MARR
MCN Special Writer

This day and age a mini-van is one of the favorite picks of the typical family. They have tons of room for cargo and for people alike. They handle more like a car than a van and of course the safety features. This day in age you always have to think ahead.

The only thing is with so many mini-vans out on the market which one is best suited to your family's needs? How about the newly designed Nissan Quest.

The Quest's engine now features many advanced designs to lower friction, and your maintenance costs later in the ownership. It includes a micro finished crankshaft and camshaft, integrated ignition coil, and a stainless steel exhaust.

The front wheel drive quest has even increased its horse power and torque, from a 3.0 to a 3.3 V6. The engine is even mated to a standard automatic transmission with overdrive in fourth gear. You can even tow 3,500 lbs. in the Quest. Which helps on those long camping trips.

Okay so you can get up and

go and haul the world behind you, but your mini-van still has to look good, right? Well the Quest has an fabulous look to it.

The exterior has been stretched four more inches in length and another two inches in width. Giving the Quest more room inside for you and your family. The wheelbase of the Quest has not changed since the last model. It is still easy to maneuver in those tight little parallel spots.

The new front end design gives the Quest a newer look in this modern age. It has a round chrome grill with multi parabola headlights with crystalline lenses that gives the quest a luxury appearance without the luxury price. You can get a Nissan Quest starting at $22,000.

Like I said before though mini-vans are the family car, so the next thing to worry about is safety. The Quest comes with dual air bags, 3-point out-board seat belts in both second and third rows, optional second row child seats, energy absorbing steering column, front crumple zones, hood buckling creases, and pipe style side door guard beams. All features that will help your children, friends, and family stay safe while driving in your mini-van.

This is one awesome mini-van. It is quick and very affordable. It is so fun to drive you wouldn't mind taking those long trips this summer. The Nissan Quest is one mini-van that you will definitely drive away happy in.

Based on limited reports from the Silverdome this past weekend, where 75,000 U.S. teens joined in wholesome Christian fellowship and singing, we may see some changes in our classrooms no matter what the American Civil Liberties fight for or against.

We may see our students today having a strange book hidden inside their oversized science class Atlas...just so they are not accused of breaking school rules.

Unlike previous years...that

hidden publication may not be a current copy of Playboy or Playgirl ... it could be a publication that stresses love not lust ... it is called the Bible.

Hopefully the changes needed will include school districts and court systems that no longer consider the Bible ... intellectual contraband.

If not maybe the youth of the next century will rise up and challenge court rulings. As Christian singer Carmen bellows out at his numerous free concerts across the U.S. "God's Got an Army."

And I wouldn't be too surprised to see more and more youth enlisting in the battle to save America's soul.

Cleaning Rouge is easier said than done

By DAVID COX
Romulus Administrator

You may wonder how something as cumbersome and complicated as the Rouge River Wet Weather Demonstration Project got started. I don't mean why it got started, I have already said that the Honorable Judge John Feikens supplied the 'why' part of the equation when he issued the order to volunteer, or else.

I mean the 'how' part. How do you even start doing something like this? I mean, history has shown that if you put more than two people in a room together they even have trouble deciding where to go for dinner let alone how to get all the communities in 438 square miles together to pull something like this off. Considering that the Rouge River Watershed has more population than many states, it's a daunting task to say the least.

Usually what we do is put the experts in charge. We find somebody that wrote the book on whatever issue we have before us and follow that lead.

That might have been the answer here except that the book hasn't been written yet. Sure, we have experts in all the sciences but even they really don't know exactly what's wrong and exactly how to fix it, we're all guessing.

That being said, we need an organization. We need to be able to have a committee of folks who are monitoring the situation and directing the effort. Success requires that everyone be reading off the same page or the whole thing will look like the Tower of Babel when we're done.

That's where the RRAC or Rouge River Advisory Council comes in. The RRAC is made up of representatives of all the interested parties, State, County, City and Township people. For the most part they have in depth knowledge of certain key parts of the effort but nobody knows how to do everything, kind of like the way money is made. They get together and make decisions everybody can live with on virtually everything from where we should start to where we should finish.

Last week I attended my first RRAC meeting which was held in Farmington and lasted two hours. What we were talking about for that length of time was how the Interim Report Card should look once it's printed. We decided how the indicators should be expressed and even agreed what the words and terms we would use would mean.

We are moving forward but considering we're still deciding what the words will mean, we have a ways to go. Don't run for your bathing suit just yet.

The Board of Education of Westwood Community School District will be accepting firm sealed bids for partial roof replacement at Thorne Elementary School.

Instructions:

1. A mandatory pre-bid meeting for all perspective bidders and their subcontractors will be held on May 5, 1999, at 1:00 p.m. EDST at Thorne Elementary School, 25251 Annapolis, Dearborn Heights, Michigan.
2. Specifications and bid forms will be distributed at the pre-bid meeting.
3. Prior to Wednesday, May 5, 1999, perspective bidders must contact the Board Office (313-565-1900) between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. to register for the pre-bid meeting and to reserve a set of bid documents. Any questions on the "scope of work" shall be directed to Tom Meyer, Garland Company Technical Consultant, at (810) 308-8385.
4. Bids are to be submitted to fully comply, in all respects, to the specifications.
5. The Board of Education reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids or waive any irregularity therein.

Romulus second-best at Dick Waters Relays

McCauley, Keyes split hurdles

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus cashed in on senior hurdler Carlton McCauley's gold-medal winning performance, three silvers and an equal number of bronzes to earn the runners-up trophy at the prestigious Dick Waters

Relays staged Saturday at Monroe High School.

In a field of 18 competing high school teams, coach Norb Glover's runners finished second only to traditionally-strong track power, Toledo Whitmer.

Whitmer's athletes dominated the field with 107 points. Romulus finished second with 78, while hosts Monroe piled up the third best total of 54.

"Our kids did well," said Glover afterward. "We are especially pleased with McCauley's efforts. But I felt he should have had two firsts."

McCauley, a senior, is one of the premier hurdlers in the state. After winning the 110-meters high hurdles in 14.6, McCauley finished second to John Glenn's senior hurler, Josh Keyes, who led McCauley to the finish line in the low hurdles.

Keyes' winning time for the 300-meter lows was 40.6.

Keyes also gave the sixth-place finishing Rockets a fifth place in the 110-meter hurdles (15.9), while the Rockets' 1600-meter relay team, of Kevin Derwich, Justin Keyes, P. J. Wolocko and Josh Keyes had the sixth-best time of 3:39.88.

McCauley also picked up a fourth-place medal when he successfully cleared six-feet in the high jump competition.

Fred Russell, who was second in the state in both the 100 and 200-meters a year ago, ran second at the Dick Waters in the 100 (11.0). He finished behind Ypsilanti's Dale Heard who was clocked in 10.9.

Glover's 400-meter relay team made up of Fred Harper, Eddie Woods, Ray Graves and Derek Rapford was second to Whitmer's foursome. Whitmer walked away with the gold after posting a 43.3, while Romulus's 43.7 effort earned for them a silver.

In the 4 by 400-meter relay, Romulus had the third-best team in Calib Beasley, Charles Searcy, Ashley Terry, who ran a 3:33.0. Whitmer and Ann Arbor Pioneers placed 1-2 in the event.

Terry also earned a bronze for his 51.3 performance in the 400-meter dash.

The Eagles put together a team of Alex Abdo, Beasley, Terry and Searcy who finished fourth (8:26) in the 2-mile relay.

Glover's 800-meter relay lineup of Russell, Michael Woods, Jordan and Terry finished third (1:34.0).

In the meantime, Romulus crushed Highland Park 115-17 and destroyed Wayne Memorial 100-33 to move closer to a showdown with Southgate Anderson for the Mega Conference, Blue Division lead.

The defending champ will host Anderson today (Thursday) in a dual meet that is scheduled to begin at 3:30 p.m. Southgate is considered to have the best shot at dethroning the Blue Division track king.

"They (Southgate) are good," says Glover. "They have a lot of depth and talent. We must come ready to compete or we'll be in trouble."

Salem continues to roll

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Plymouth-Salem unleashed its explosive power to crush Westland John Glenn, 94-43, in a Western Lakes Conference dual track meet.

The victory boosted the Rocks' conference record to 2-0 for the young season; Glenn remains winless in their first two starts.

Glenn did manage to garner five first places as senior hurdler Josh Keyes tuned up for the prestigious Dick Waters Invitational with a victory in the 300-meter hurdles.

On Saturday, Keyes also won a gold in his specialty at the 18-team Dick Waters Relays.

Nick Samples placed first in the discus against the Rocks. Samples carded a toss of 130 feet, 4 1/2 inches, and teammate Brandon Trygg was the only other individual winner. He vaulted 9 feet for his victory.

Glenn coach Jess Shough also put together lineups that captured firsts in both the 800-meter and the 1600-meter relays.

In the 800-meter, clocked in 1:37.7 under a dismal, cloud-covered rain-threatening sky, Shough selected John Sterling, Kevin Durigan, Kevin Derwica and Josh Keyes for the event.

The 1,600-meter relay also featured Derwica, P.J. Wolocko and the Keyes twins - Justin and Josh, who won the event in 3:41.42.

Glenn also posted four second places as Wolocko was runnerup in the 1600-meter run (4:54.15) and Samples was second in the shot put. He had a toss of 43 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

Rob Gentry ran a 11.82 to finish second in the 100-meter dash, and teammate Durigan covered the 200-meter dash in the second best time of 24.8.

The Westlanders also posted five third places: Trygg

Representing the Westland Youth Athletic Association, the Westland Warriors competed in a Toledo Invitational last week and came home with the championship trophy. Made up of fifth and sixth graders, the Warriors' successful run in Toledo was made possible thanks to a lineup that included Brandon Lang (front row, from left), Garrett Senczysyn, Roger Walker, Woodell Payne and Absalom Goode; second row are Rashawn Walker, Danny Walsh, Kevin Kennedy, Jonathon Herendeen, Clint Simmons and Brandon Crawford; third row are coaches Carlo Mace and Gary Senczysyn.

Play ball!

WYAA parade kicks off season

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

While Westland Youth Athletic Association officials peruse their list of V.I.P.s for possible candidates who will toss out the first ball for the opening day ceremonies, a small army of boys and girls are preparing to "Play Ball" on Saturday.

The WYAA begins its 41st year in existence and its 32nd baseball-softball season on Saturday when hundreds of youngsters take to the diamonds in Central City Park. (The park is located behind Westland City Hall on Ford Road.)

"It's always exciting when you hear the ump shout that traditional call to 'Play Ball,'" said Keith DeMolay, WYAA publicist. "We're excited about the upcoming season, and each year our program gets bigger and bigger."

DeMolay said the WYAA has been talking with several local personalities to toss out the first ball, "but, as of today (Monday) we haven't settled on anyone."

WYAA plans for Opening Day ceremonies will include six games, involving teams representing the Mustang (9-10 year olds) League. There also will be Coach-Pitch, two T-Ball and two softball games.

WYAA fields baseball and softball teams for youngsters between the ages of 4 to 16.

Glenn's baseball bubble bursts as defense collapses

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It was the kind of baseball week that Glenn coach Todd Duffield and his Rockets would like to forget.

Duffield saw his club's modest three-game winning streak burst as Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Churchill handed the Rockets back-to-back losses in the Western Lakes Conference.

"Our defense fell apart against Stevenson, then we came out on the short end of a 11-10 slugfest by Churchill," offered Duffield, whose Rockets are 3-2 on the season.

Both Glenn's Dale Hayes and Stevenson's Roy Rabe pitched superb games. Each allowed only two hits, but Stevenson's defense played flawlessly behind their hurler, while Glenn committed four errors.

Hayes went the distance and was charged with the 3-1 loss. The Glenn pitcher notched eight strikeouts and walked two. All three Stevenson runs were unearned.

In the meantime, Rabe got 13 Glenn batters on strikes. He also walked two batters. The Spartan pitcher lost his bid for the no-hitter and the shutout in the seventh when he gave up a leadoff single to Hayes, which was then followed by a run-scoring two-bagger by Brian Reed.

"Errors definitely were a factor in this key divisional game," Duffield stressed. "We made them; Stevenson didn't, and they got the 'W'."

Glenn outslugged Churchill, 15-9, but the Chargers erupted for six runs in the bottom of their fourth, then hung on to win a narrow 11-10 decision over their crossover conference opponents.

Glenn staked starter, Dave Mijal, to five runs in the opening frame, but Churchill came back and got four of those in their first. The Rockets went up 7-4 on Chad Sansom's two-run homer with Justin Fundelet aboard.

The Chargers again answered with a rally of their own and closed the gap, 7-5, before their six-run outburst in the fourth that gave them the lead for good.

Fundele collected two hits, a single and a double, and also had a RBI.

In that 15-hit assault, Glenn's Dale Fedelchuk strung together three singles while teammate Mike Swafford laced a double, single and knocked in two runs.

Mijal was tagged for the loss. He gave up a total of nine of the 11 runs, six hits, and walked five before reliever Brian Toth took over the mound chores.

Duffield pointed out that two mental errors and three key Churchill hits played a role in his team's loss.

Glenn will have little time to reminisce about their losses. They will play six games in a span of five days. Weather permitting, the Rockets were scheduled to play Walled Lake Center on Monday, take on Redford Union on Tuesday they host Canton on Wednesday.

The Westlanders have a day off today (Thursday) but will return to the diamond on Friday to get their first look at Plymouth-Salem. On Saturday, they are at home for a double-header with Dearborn.

Brodie named regional hoop coach of year

Honors continue to pour in for Plymouth-Salem High School basketball coach Bob Brodie.

In the wake of Brodie's and the Rocks' successful campaign, Brodie was selected as the Basketball Coaches Association of Michigan's Regional Coach of the Year in Class A, Region 1.

Brodie led Plymouth-Salem to district and regional championships and to the state quarter finals before his Rocks lost to Pontiac Northern. Salem launched the season with a string of 11 victories and wound up 18-5 on the year.

Brodie was also the Michigan Community Newspapers' Sports Staff's pick for the 1998-99 Coach of the Year.

Other coaches named in Region I as the BCAM's Coaches of the Year included: Russell Collins (Class B, Hamtramck), Roosevelt Barnes (Class C, Redford Bishop Burgess) and Shaded Saleem (Class D).

Czyzak hurt in Wayne's 6-2 loss to Allen Park

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Wayne paid a high price in its loss to Allen Park last week.

A line-shot drilled back to the mound in the opening inning caught Wayne's pitching ace Brian Czyzak in the back of the neck, injuring the starter who was forced out of the game.

"He (Czyzak) is doing fine and he will be all-right," said Wayne Memorial coach Jim Chronowski. "He took a hard-hit drive in the back. It looked scary for a while, but we managed to immediately apply ice. He will be all-right."

Chronowski said that he did not expect Czyzak to miss his next start.

Wayne reliever Ryan Ybarra replaced Czyzak, and he managed to defuse Allen Park, which had loaded the bases and had scored one run in that inning before the Wayne starter had been injured.

Ybarra got out of the inning by striking out the first batter he faced, then getting the next batter to hit into a double play.

Wayne tied the score in the second, but the Parkers came back with a pair of runs in both the fourth and fifth innings and scored a single run in the sixth to hand Wayne its first Mega Conference, White Division setback in two starts. Allen Park boosted its White Division record to 2-0 on the year.

In his six inning of work, Ybarra gave up five runs - three of which were unearned. He also struck out three and walked three batters.

The freshman hurler also accounted for two of his team's five hits. Wayne's leadoff batter Scott Teasdale collected a single and double for his three trips.

AP's Adam Woloszyk also twirled a five hitter, fanned three but issued seven bases on balls. The sophomore is 2-0 on the year.

Wayne comes into the week with a 1-6 record. Chronowski and the Zebras faced Trenton on Monday, then took on an always tough Edsel Ford on Wednesday and will travel to Taylor Truman on Friday.

White says he's ready for the pros

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Al White says that he is ready for the NBA. The former Inkster High All-American basketball star held a press conference last week in the Inkster High School Library to announce his availability for the upcoming NBA draft.

White, a 6-5, junior, whose style on the hardwood reminds fans of former NBA great "Magic" Johnson, transferred to the University of Missouri, via the University of Michigan, where he has led the Tigers' basketball machine.

White told the informal crowd of fans and media that he felt that he was ready to turn pro. His stats, he added, would support his actions, and that he has matured into a player that could be reckoned with on the professional level.

He averaged about 17 points per game for the Tigers, and was an unanimous all-Big 12 Conference choice.

There is little doubt in former Inkster High hoop coach and present Athletic Director George Thompson Jr.'s mind that Albert White can play in the NBA.

"He has both the physical and the mental skills to survive in the pros," Thompson said later. "But I have always pushed my kids to get their college degrees. It's very important."

Title contenders next for Romulus rookie coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Mega Conference, Gold Division baseball title hopefuls are all lined up to take on first-year coach Keith Brothers and the Romulus Eagles.

The Eagles picked Highland Park and Robichaud apart in their first two divisional games, but Brothers says that "this is the week that will identify the true character of our team."

Brothers, a former Romulus baseball standout who replaced his ex-coach Don Foley as the varsity head coach, says that teams like Crestwood and Annapolis will test his club's endurance.

Romulus embarrassed Robichaud 15-1 and crushed Highland Park 15-0 in their only two Gold Division encounters thus far this season. On Monday, weather and ground conditions permitting, the Eagles were scheduled to play at Dearborn Heights Crestwood, then travel to River Rouge (Wednesday) for another conference game.

On Friday, Romulus will remain on the road where they are scheduled to meet Taylor Kennedy and, on Saturday, Annapolis and Romulus will play a doubleheader slated to begin at 11 a.m.

With an infield that consists of four sophomores, Romulus has managed to rack up a 4-2 overall record. Their only major setback was a 11-0 shellacking at the hands of Woodhaven, a crossover Mega Conference opponent.

Romulus's explosive bats were suddenly silenced by Woodhaven, whose pitching staff held the Eagles to only one hit.

In their rout of the Parkers, junior hurler Dennis Lanskroener turned in a no-hitter, struck out 13 but walked seven in his first varsity victory.

Romulus got run-scoring hits from Robert Belcher, Billy Chapman, Jason Orme, Phillip Kufel and Aaron Brohl.

In their 5-4 victory over Ypsilanti Lincoln, Romulus' Derek Plave chalked up his third win against one loss. He also hammered three hits, two of those going for the distance.

Plave was responsible for all five runs batted in - his homer in the sixth tied the game and in the top of the ninth he drilled a homer to win it for the Eagles.

In the abbreviated game against Robichaud (called after five when the Eagles amassed a 15-1 lead), Plave also connected for a three-run homer, his third circuit clout of the campaign.

Hoop tournament, anyone?

There are still several opening for the annual North American Youth Basketball tournament.

The tournament will be staged on May 28-30 at the University of Michigan-Dearborn facility.

The tournament will feature 10 different brackets: Fifth-Sixth grade boys; 5th-6th grade girls; 7th grade boys; 7th grade girls; 8th grade girls; 9th-10th grade boys and girls; 11th-12 grade boys and girls.

All grades are based on the grade in which a student is currently enrolled.

There is a $95 entry fee which will guarantee each team a minimum of two games. There also will be awards presented in each of the mentioned brackets.

The entry deadline is May 7. For additional information or an entry form, please contact Anita Livesay at the NAYB spring tournament hotline at 1-888-629-2275 or tournament director Mike Trudeau at 810-469-4242.

Burcroff last year was elected to the Romulus High School Hall of Fame.

His son Councilman Leroy Burcroff said persons wishing to send get-well messages to his dad, should mail them to: Dean Burcroff, in care of Leroy Burcroff at 36750 Wick road in Romulus, 488174.

Mail carriers to collect food donations May 8

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Letter carriers across western Wayne County will be collecting non-perishable food or picnic items from area residents' porches on May 8.

Catherine Tondreau, food drive coordinator for Branch 2184 of the National Letter Carriers, revealed they are joining forces with the U.S. Postal Service CIO-AFL and the United Way on this project.

Foodstuffs should be placed near the home's mailbox, Tondreau said, on the morning of May 8.

The collected items will be picked up by postal authorities that day and turned over to area food banks, pantries etc.

In Romulus, where letters are delivered by Taylor mail personnel, residents have an option. "They can drop off food in canisters located in the Romulus Post Office or have them picked up from their homes by Taylor carriers," Romulus Postmaster Andrew L. Pietrzyk said.

Last year a total of 62 million pounds of food was collected across the U.S., Tondreau said.

For more information call Tondreau at 313-295-1640.

EAGLES NEST TO COME ALIVE at 7 p.m. May 15 in the cafeteria of Romulus High School. Dinner will be served promptly followed by dancing to the Romulus Jazz Band's renditions of the oldies. Tickets will cost $12 for adults and $6.50 for students and senior citizens. For more information call 734-941-2170, ext. 501.

NO FEE GARAGE SALES will take place in Romulus from June 3 to June 6. Permits must be applied for by no later than May 14 so that citywide maps can be created. For more information call 734-942-6852.

POLICE GOLF OUTING is slated for 7 a.m. Aug. 6 at the Shady Hollow Golf Course. Cost is $65 per person and it covers 18 holes of golf, cart, shirt, lunch, steak dinner, beer and soft drinks. For more information call Romulus Police Officers Mike St. Andre or Duane Smith at 734-941-8400.

Hale Creek School now among the best

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Schools across the land today are under tremendous pressure to do more.

Hale Creek Elementary School in Romulus has picked up that challenge and proudly reveals that last November it recorded an 89 percent participation rate at Parent-Teacher conferences.

Headed by Principal Lynne Mossoian, the school has set a mission statement that includes "a partnership with the students, parents and community that will provide the curriculum, tools and opportunities that will allow each student to develop the knowledge and necessary skills to meet Middle School academic challenges and become effective learners for life."

The school building on Harrison road in Romulus houses 500 students in grades kindergarten through the sixth grade.

It also includes a varied staff of professionals that includes:

- Kindergarten teacher Cathy Kudra, who recently was selected as "teacher of the year" by the district's elementary principals.

- Parent Coordinator Donna Zajac, who helped lead 70 percent of the student body's families to return their signed compacts to the Hale Creek School office.

The school's fourth grade recently displayed general increases in its MEAP test scores for three of its four key study areas from 1996-98:

Math scores from 69.5% to 86.4%; reading from 44.1% to 54.2%; science from 52.9% to 69%; and writing from 62.5% to 46.7%.

Based on those scores the school then focused its goal on setting up reading and writing programs for this school year to increase its positive test score hikes even higher.

Since music is an important element to every child's life both "general music" and "instrumental music" opportunities are available at Hale Creek.

The general music classes give students a chance to have hands on experiences with numerous instruments including xylophone, hand drums, maracas, tambourines and rhythm sticks among others.

Vocal music teacher Linda Maich also works with students to improve their singing voices.

Mark Fernandez, instrumental music instructor, also has created a new incentive program for students to develop their individual skills. A two-tiered rather than three-tiered band program was called extremely successful and resulted in fewer drop-outs.

Also second and third year players automatically moved up to the top level group (concert band) instead of having to try out for it.

"This resulted in less stress for band members and more instructional time for all," Fernandez related.

Once again new goals were set for this year: namely to prepare sixth grade band members for middle school band tests and performing two major concerts as well as smaller performances.

Physical Education teacher William T. Baum combines athletic training with social skill lessons including self discipline, fair play, honesty, sportsmanship and safe movements within a group.

Technology also remains a remarkable key to Romulus education styles and Hale Creek is proud to list over 180 computers building-wide with updated reading, math, social studies series and science kits.

Mary Swain and Ron Walker were crowned King and Queen of Hearts at Gamma Phi Delta Pre-Valentine Frolic.

Sorority ball

King & Queen of Hearts crowned

By MAUDE REID
MCN Special Writer

Gamma Phi Delta Sorority held its annual Pre-Valentine Frolic on Feb. 6 at the Top of the Pontchartrain in Detroit and Mary Swain and Ron Walker were crowned King and Queen of Hearts.

The gala affair is presented annually in remembrance of the late soror Marylene Robinson. Funds generated from the affair are used for scholarships that will assist young ladies to continue their education.

In keeping with the occasion, the guests wore red attire and decor was gorgeous. Antoine Dozier sang a song dedicated to the Valentine Ladies, and the merry crowd enjoyed music by D. J. Love.

Guests from out of town were many, including Mike Quanders of Washington D. C., and Mike Sanders of Toledo, Ohio.

Everyone agreed that the affair was even bigger and better this year than ever and most expressed a desire to return next year.

Winnie Mandela pays children a visit

By MAUDE REID
MCN Special Writer

Jari-Chas Day Care Center ended its Black History Observance with a program presented by the children and a visit from Winnie Mandela of South Africa.

Winnie Mandela, former wife of Nelson Mandela, president of the Union of South Africa, is a member of that nation's parliament. She recently paid the city of Inkster and Detroit a visit to raise funds.

Mandela's presence attracted a huge audience of children, parents, teachers, according to Mary Alice, director of the Center.

The walls and bulletin boards at the Center were covered with pictures and photos and biographies of famous Black Americans.

Barbara Leatherwood, director of Jari-Chas

Day Care Center, 4437 Inkster Road, was Mistress of Ceremonies and a program involved the children singing We Shall Overcome, African songs, and dances taught by Sheita and Lynett Adams.

Winnie Mandela spoke to the children reminding them that they will be the leaders of tomorrow; that children of South Africa are "still struggling to be free."

Walter and Yvonne Kirkpatrick, owners of the Day Care Center, presented a check of $500 to Winnie Mandela.

Following her visit, a delicious dinner was served to all. Mandela was accompanied by Bishop Wayne T. Jackson, the brother of Barbara Leatherwood (Inkster) and Yvonne Kirkpatrick, formerly of Inkster.

This columnist was present at the occasion at the invitation of Barbara Leatherwood.

'Camp Logan'

A play about the races presented

By MAUDE REID
MCN Special Writer

Gamma Phi Delta Sorority, Inc., Omega Chapter Inkster sponsored a play entitled "Camp Logan".

The play was presented at the Detroit Repertory Theater, and the play is the artistic creation of Celeste Walker.

The drama is placed in an army camp in Houston, Texas in the summer of 1917, during the midst of World War I, and the action takes place in the times when racial prejudice was a way of life in the Armed Services.

Racial discrimination was rampant and tensions were at an explosive level.

Before the curtain opened, the crowd was welcomed by Joyce Phillips, Basileus of Omega Chapter. She informed the audience that the money from the staging of the play would be used to fund scholarships for students seeking to better themselves and those who wish to go on to college.

The plot of this play is one that should never be forgotten - that to deny one person his freedom and rights is deny all. If you haven't seen Camp Logan, please do.

County has food for the indigent

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

If you have trouble putting food on the table for your children or family, Wayne County would like to hear from you.

Barry Baumann, who serves as director of the Office of Nutrition Services, Emergency Food Assistance Program, said this week that the county has food available to individuals or members of a household in need.

He also said that the recent criticism of the Wayne Democratic Club may have a "chilling effect upon our efforts to get volunteers to distribute the food."

"We rely on local groups to help us distribute the food to the needy families, and the Wayne Democratic Club has been an active participant in volunteering their services."

"The criticism about the club holding back cheese is unjustified because they have not received that item for years," Baumann continued. "There is a check-and-balance system in place that would prevent the misuse of the foods we give and pass out to the needy."

Among some of the items the county does offer are apple sauce, spaghetti, ham and corn.

"There are several conditions that must be met before a person can receive the food and one key element is that the commodities are for personal or family consumption and will not be sold or traded," Baumann added.

For further information about the program, contact the Office of Nutrition Services at (313)326-4479.

Seeing is believing in kids' gymnastics

By KAREN MEIER
MCN Special Writer

My second-oldest child and my second-youngest have been very busy lately showing me what's what in astonishing physical accomplishments.

It's pretty amazing to see these things up close and personal, and to have them happen side-by-side.

This is the kind of amazing that when it happens my breath is taken away, for a moment, just a moment, and then I find it again, a lot of it, and then I shout out loud and clap my hands hard, and make a very large deal about it!

I'll bet you would too, I just bet. I mean, how could you not?

I make a big deal about my second oldest, my daughter, when she does somersaults in the air over a four-inch wide balance beam four feet off the ground and lands back on the same skinny piece of wood. In gymnast's lingo, this is a "front tuck," and worth a ton during a competition.

It's worth me covering my eyes when I see it coming. How can anyone do this? I mean the actual physical mechanics of it, impossible to do, it defies gravity and sense and everything else under the sun. But she does it, others at the competition do it.

Seeing it, for me anyway, is still not believing! I just can't believe it. My eyes must be playing tricks, that's gotta be it!

And then there's the routine Carmen has on the uneven parallel bars. That part where she does those giant swings on the high bar, around and around

How can anyone do this? I mean the actual physical mechanics of it, impossible to understand.

Karen Meier

and around, body fully extended, arms straight. How can that be? "Oh, Mom. That's not even the hard thing anymore. Coach is teaching us harder stuff now, a lot harder."

Oh great. I think I'll wear a baseball cap to the next competition and pull it down way hard over my eyes every time I suspect something like this will be coming along. And then I'll breathe again and shout and clap and make a big deal about it when it's all over.

And not to be outdone, it's my second to youngest, Steven! Although to an outsider, his physical accomplishments may not seem nearly as spectacular or state-championship-worthy, they are - in my book and in our family's book.

Steven is learning to walk; he's just begun taking up to a dozen steps at a time now and this whole family of his is shouting, clapping, and making an enormous big deal about it. This is huge for little Stevie. Huge! He's three years old now and even for little guys with Down syndrome this is a bit later than what most experts tell us is usual for learning to walk.

Stevie indeed has Down syndrome and very low muscle tone. Looking at his manner of walking I'd have to say right now, it's mind over matter. He is determined to walk, much the same way a bumblebee is determined to fly. A bumblebee is not designed very aerodynamically, but no one bothered to tell the chubby bumblebee that, and so he flies.

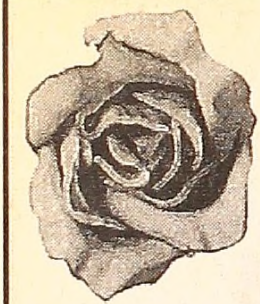

Stevie has low, low muscle tone, but I'm not going to tell him that. I won't even hint at that. And now he walks. Oh sure, he'll never win a state championship in learning how to walk, but he's won my admiration and the admiration of all his brothers and state champ sister and his daddy too.

Three cheers for accomplishments, big and small, side by side, so overflowing with faith and spirit.

Canton announces 'Hall of Fame' community achievers

The Canton community honored its 1998 Hall of Fame inductee and 1998 Community Achievers/Supporters during a special ceremony and reception at the Summit on the Park banquet center.

The annual event is designed to honor those individuals who have made a long-lasting contribution to the community and have been selected to enter the Canton Hall of Fame. Local dentist and library leader Dr. James Gillig is the 1998 Hall of Fame honoree.

Community Achievers were also be honored during the event given to the individuals or groups who continue to make a regular contribution to the community in the previous year.

This year's winners are as follows:

1998 Hall of Fame Dr. James Gillig, A dedicated local businessman and community leader, Dr. Gillig is best known for his work with the highly respected Canton Public Library, where he has been a member of the board of Trustees for 20 years, beginning in 1979. Dr. Gillig moved to Canton in 1978 with his wife Sandy and two daughters, Nicole and Heather because he was attracted to the family oriented community. He opened up his dental office on Ford Road specializing in orthodontics and has never looked back since.

A Canton Chamber of Commerce member for nearly 20 years, Dr. Gillig was named Canton's Small business person of the year in 1991. He also sat as a member of the chamber board in the mid 1980s.

Dr. Gillig has been involved in a wide range of other local groups and activities including the Canton Rotary Club, the Canton County Festival, the Educational Excellence Foundation, the Library Network board and the Plymouth Library Commission. He also sat on the Wayne Oakland Library Federation Board and was involved in the formation on a new library consortium known as Metronet.

The annual event is designed to honor those individuals who have made a long-lasting contribution to the community and have been selected to enter the Canton Hall of Fame.

Dr. Gillig has seen the Canton Public Library grow through many changes, moving from its original site in the Administration Building to its current location at 1200 south Canton Center. At different times in his tenure on the library Board, Dr. Gillig served as chairperson and as the board treasurer.

In 1979 he was treasurer of the Canton Library Millage Committee which secured the original funding for the library's first location in the township hall. Another millage campaign in 1986 led to the construction of the current 32,000 square foot site on Canton Center Road, more than doubling the size of the original facility in township hall. Last year library leaders celebrated the 10th year anniversary of the completion of the library's current structure, which houses more than 130,000 volumes and has been honored as a library of the future for its work with the Internet and a program called CyberKids.

1998 Community Achievers Peggy Schneider, Organized Character Counts presence in the Fourth of July Parade. Received an award from Character Counts for Martin Luther King Day activities at Hoben School. Active in the Community After School Program.

Caring People of Canton Small Charitable group formed in 1995 to help less fortunate families at Thanksgiving. Wayne and Sharon Hill, Gary Cullins, Nancy Dragan and Lynn Green. During 1998 delivered turkey and all the trimmings to 93 families.

Neighborhood Improvement Committee

A Citizen Committee that met from September 1997 to February 1998 who evaluated the condition of older neighborhoods and made a recommendation to the Canton Board of Trustees on programs to strengthen older neighborhoods. Committee members; Jim Cisek, Paul Gackenbach, Gregg King, Stephen Killianczyk, Richard Waldecker, Vicky Maciag, James Jezowski, Sue Glebe, Linda Cleere, Michelle Hall and Bob Dettling.

Superbowl "All-Night Bowling Lock-Down"

Superbowl and the Canton Police Department have sponsored an "All Night Lock-down" program geared to 9-15 years old kids. The program provides young people with a safe environment to bowl, dance, mingle with friends and an opportunity to interact with the Canton's Community Policing Teams. The proceeds are donated by Superbowl to the Canton Police Explorers Program.

Betty Smith

Volunteered to produce a senior radio program on WSDP-Plymouth Canton School radio station. Helped to create and is hosting the radio show "Lemonade."

Youth Leadership Canton Committee

Coordinated the "Youth Leadership Canton - In Line for Success" program for eighth grade students. The program is in its first year and has been extremely successful. The committee started meeting in January of 1998 and a kickoff retreat was held in October of 1998 with 30 students participating. The mission statement is "To develop the leadership and problem solving skills of local youth, providing future leaders to benefit our community." The committee members are; Joan Noricks, Cheryl McInerney,

MADD mom Jenny Lozano holds $500 check from Wally Jackson and Ben E. Jet

Deputies dribble Ben E. Jet

"Over the years, I have been involved in many projects, but none better than the Wayne County Sheriff's deputies vs. Benny and the Jets band benefit basketball game," said Ben E. Jet.

The deputies and rockers raised over $500 for MADD last week.

Sheriff's Cpl. Brian Ferris came up with the idea of playing a benefit game against the veteran rockers for MADD at the Garden City arena on Radcliff.

The event was pepped up by cheerleaders and the famous chicken, Freddy Brandt, and the big bad scary wolf, Dave Hatty.

The Wayne County Sheriff's team consisted of Coach Bob "Gus" Guskoviet (looking and felling a bit like former Piston Coach Chuck Daly), Derrick Bushing, Brian Farris, Tom Wallace, Rob Collier, Robert Walker, Tim Mengel, Craig Muller, Brian Earle, Michael Pensil, Dannel Warren, and Dave "Desi" Desualtis.

The Jet team, made up from the gang at Lucille's, included Wally Jackson and his band, player-coach Bob Zube, Wally Jackson, Bill "Bo Bo" Davis, Eric "Toco" Albright, Bob "Bam Bam" Davis, Brian Vondohlen, Scott Allen, Mark Watson, and Big Ben.

It was a cliffhanger that the deputies won in the last five seconds.

The benefit raised over $500 for MADD.

It was sponsored by Mr. C, the Wayne Brewery, Danica Dark, Sports Authority, Michigan Community Newspapers, Westland Rams Horn, and the Garden City Fire Department.

ATTENTION READERS:

To Whom it May Concern:

Just wanted to tell you that we placed our ad with your papers (Michigan Community) and how surprised we were with all the response we received on our 1963 Dump Truck. We sold the ad after only one week in your newspapers. We had previously run ads in the News Herald, Free Press and Wheeler Dealer and received only three total calls. When we placed the ad with your papers, our phone rang off the hook!
Thank You Very Much!
